

Berkwood M. Farmer

Former Dean, Raj Soin College of Business and now Associate Professor of Economics
Raj Soin College of Business

Berkwood M. Farmer was Dean of the Raj Soin College of Business at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio (from 2001 to 2012) and is now a member of the Economics faculty at Wright State. Prior to coming to Dayton, he served as Dean of the College of Business and Economics at Longwood University in Farmville, Virginia for ten years.

Dr. Farmer Received a Ph.D. in Economics from North Carolina State University. During his academic career, he has served on the faculty of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, New York and the University of Richmond in Richmond, Virginia. Dr. Farmer has also served as the Chief Agricultural Economist for the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Dr. Farmer has been very active in economic development and community activities. He is currently a member of the Greene Foundation Board of Directors (Soin and Greene Hospitals), and the Advisory Board of UBS, Inc., Richmond, Virginia. He was a founding director of a bank in Virginia; former member of the Board of Directors for Virginia Region BB&T Bank; and was a member of the Governor's Council of Economic Advisors in Virginia for eight years. During 1966, he served as a military officer in South Vietnam.

For more than 20 years, he was very active with AACSB International (professional accrediting body for business schools) as a member and chair of numerous Peer Review Teams.

He and his wife, Terri, live in Springboro. Their daughter Bradley graduated from Springboro High School in 2011 and graduated from Wright State in May 2015 (Musical Theater major.) Bradley lives and works in NYC.